PARLIAMENT ENDS SESSION, PRESIDENT LI MAKES TALK

Reviews Recent Political Troubles In China

IS NOW HOPEFUL

Urges Laying Of Foundation To Last Thousands Of Years

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, September 18.—Two hundred and ninety-one members of the House of Representatives and 143 Senators were present at the closing ceremony of the second session of Parliament this morning. The Gendarmerie Band opened the proceedings by playing the Chinese victory song. Mr. Wang Chia-hsiang, President of the Senate, presided, the ceremony taking place in the House of Representatives. Mr. Wang made a suitable address after which President Li Yuan-hung appeared. No members of the Cabinet were present. The Chief Secretary of the Senate escorted President Li to the seat of honor reserved for the Chief Executive, and from where the President made an address as follows:

"Today, on the occasion of this closing ceremony I am deeply impressed by the difficulties facing our country. For the past six years the history of China has been most eventful and during that period Parliament was not able to function. Half way through its business it was suspended owing to the influences of the moment. Although Parliament was not able to function its members continued to fight for its existence through the intervening years, until finally their labors were crowned with success by the restoration of the legal houses. Had it not been for the energy and determination shown by you gentlemen we should not be celebrating the closing of the second session today. I desire to encourage you in establishing a solid foundation for the Republic which will last thousands of years."

The band then played the National Anthem and the proceedings terminated.

AMERICAN MAILS COMING IN TODAY ON PRES. JACKSON

Steamer President Cleveland And China Both Sailing For San Francisco

Following the arrival from San Francisco yesterday of the China Mail steamer Nile, which sails direct for Hongkong this morning, the Admiral Liner steamer President Jackson is due in at 1 o'clock this afternoon from Seattle with 1,010 sacks of mail, 1,315 tons of cargo and a full passenger list. The steamer is to dock at the China Merchants Central wharf and is to sail for Hongkong and Manila at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Two big liners sailing for America shortly are the President Cleveland of Pacific Mail and the China of China Mail, both going to San Francisco via Japan ports and Honolulu.

The President Cleveland will arrive from Hongkong tomorrow and will sail at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning. it will berth at the N. Y. K. Lower Buoy and the tender with outgoing passengers will leave the Customs Jetty at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The China is due off Woosung from Hongkong at 11 o'clock this morning and sails in the evening. The tender with incoming passengers is expected at the Customs jetty about 1.30 o'clock this afternoon, and outgoing passengers are to leave by the tender from the jetty at 4 o'clock.

Two big liners will sail from this port for America this week end. They are the Empress of Canada of the Canadian Pacific and the President McKinley of the Admiral Line. The Empress sails for Vancouver next Saturday and the McKinley is to sail for Seattle on Sunday.

GIESEL RELEASED, CHINESE WHO MAY BE PARTNER HELD

Tls. 10,000 Bail Given By Man Take After Police Seizure Of Spurious Liquor

Mr. A. Giesel, head of Giesel and Company, Shanghai liquor firm whose godowns at 1A Chaufoong Road was raided by French and Municipal police on Saturday and over 1,000 cases of alleged spurious liquor seized, was released from the French jail late yesterday.

Cash bail was given by Mr. Giesel in the sum of Tls. 10,000 as fixed on Saturday afternoon following the preliminary hearing at which he was bound over for trial on various charges connected with the manufacture of spurious liquor and issuance of counterfeit labels.

French police made a second arrest in the case early yesterday when they took into custody the No. 1 Chinese said to have been in charge of the godowns on Yochow Road where police are said to have found about 200 cases of alleged spurious brandy and vermouth for which French citizens in Shanghai are the authorised agents. The Chinese was arrested about 1:30 o'clock in the morning when he returned to his home on Rue Montigny. French police allege he is a partner with Mr. Giesel.

Police on Sunday concluded their search of the godowns on Chaufoong Road and are now making up a list of the liquors seized which they assert are spurious and say that French agencies for the liquors in Shanghai will prosecute Mr. Giesel for forgery of their brands. Further developments in the case are looked for in the course of the next few days.

U. S. Has Third Of World's Movie Fans

(Chung Mei Service)

London. Sept. 1.—A German film magazine just received here, shows that more than a third of the world's movie "fans" live in the United States.

This publication has for a long time been gathering statistics of the number of cinemas in every country or the globe. Its investigations disclose the fact that there are some 18,000 motion picture theaters in the United States, as compared with only 18,393 throughout all Europe.

According to the published figures, there are more cinemas in Germany than in any other European country.

Canada has only 750 picture houses—fewer than tiny Belgium. South America is apparently "movie mad:" its cinemas number 1,200.

The following interesting statistical table shows clearly the geographical distribution of these places of amusement:

United States	18,000
South America	1,200
Germany	3,731
Russia (estimated)	3,500
Great Britain	3.000
France	2,400
Italy	2,200
Austria	800
Belgium	778
Canada	750
Scandinavia	703
Central America	500
Poland	300
Holland	227
Hungary	180
Spain	156
Czecho-Slovakia	123
Switzerland	123
Jugo-Slavia	117
Turkey	32
Balkans	23

Advisory Board Has Been Abolished

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Sept. 18.—The abolition of the Diplomatic Advisory Board, which was created during the last Terauchi Cabinet in 1917 and included political leaders of all parties to advise the Government on very important foreign questions, is officially gazetted.

TO HOLD GARDEN FETE

In order to aid the fund being raised to supply furnishings and equipment for the new King's Daughters Convalescent Home, now nearing Completion at Hungjao Road, a garden fete will be held on October 14 at the home of Mrs. Ayscough, 20 Gordon Road, for which a varied list of attractions is being arranged. Included in the program will be an entertainment that is to be staged by members of the Dramatic Section of the British Women's Association.

Union Church Guild Announces Program

The opening concert of the Union Church Literary and Social Guild is to be held on Wednesday, October 11, at 9 p.m. in the Union Church Hall.

The program is being arranged by Mrs. J. W. Nicolson who is well known to Shanghai audiences. She will herself give one of her unique impersonations in character costume, in which she impersonates various characters, and will also appear in an original duologue entitled "Proposing to a New Woman." This latter number was to have been given at the King's Daughters' benefit last spring but had to be omitted at the last moment Mrs. Isherwood has kindly consented to sing and will be accompanied by Mrs. Armistead.

Members are promised a most enjoyable evening and are asked to keep the date in mind. Announcement of the issue of membership tickets will be made shortly.

CHINESE BEGIN MOVEMENT TO REORGANISE MIXED COURT

Would Eliminate All Foreign Authority,

PEKING IS ACTING

Establishment Of Court Of Appeals Is Urged

Negotiations have been opened in Peking, say reports that are being published in Chinese newspapers, to effect a drastic reorganisation of the Mixed Court of Shanghai with the end that foreign authority be eliminated from the court. These negotiations, according to the reports, have been taken up by the Chinese Government at Peking with the various foreign powers.

The proposed changes provide that all Chinese cases be heard by Chinese Magistrates only in afternoon sessions of the court and that no foreign Assessors participate in any way in the hearings; that the subjects of nations whose consular jurisdiction has been withdrawn (Germany and Russia) come under the jurisdiction of the Chinese Magistrates only; that new Magistrates be appointed after examinations conducted by the Ministry of Justice, and that a Court of Appeals be established.

The most significant change proposed is in the establishment of a Court of Appeals. At the present time no Court of Appeals is in existence and the Mixed Court, with its wide scope, is the most powerful court in the world as it hears every variety of criminal and civil action regardless of the amount of money involved or the sentence, including death, that may be given to convicted offenders.

Under the present rules of the court Chinese Magistrates, appointed by the Peking Government, sit with foreign Assessors having equal power. Two Assessors appointed by the British Consul-General sit on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, two Assessors appointed by the American Consul-General sit on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and one Assessor each, appointed by the Italian and Japanese Consul-Generals sit on Saturdays. The former Russian Assessor, reappointed by the Senior Consul as Consular Assessor, sits in cases where Russians are involved, either with a Chinese Magistrate or another foreign assessor and a Chinese Magistrate. No German Assessor has occupied the bench since the war. In the French Mixed Court French Assessors only sit with Chinese Magistrates.

Conference Rates To Prevail Again, Ten Companies Sign

Of particular importance to shippers here is the announcement received this week that the New York Conference again has been formed and that uniform rates of freight from the Far East to New York and north Atlantic ports have been established and agreed to by shipping companies in general.

Steamship companies that have agreed to quote freight rates of the conference are as follows: Messrs Butterfield and Swire., The Admiral Line P. S. S. Co., Dodwell and Co., Ltd., The Robert Dollar Co., Jardine, Matheson and Co., Ltd., Nippon Yusen Kaisha., Osaka Shosen Kaisha., Pacific Mail S. S. Co., Shewan Tomes and Co., and Furness (Far East) Ltd.

BISHOPS DECORATED

The Italian Legation in Peking announces that His Majesty, the King of Italy, has been pleased to bestow the Knight Companionship of the Order of the Crown of Italy on five Italian Bishops in China. The recipients of the honors are Monsignors Agapito, Fioentini, Apostolic Vicar of Northern Shansi; Luigi Calza, Apostolic Vicar of Western Honan; Eugenio Massi, Apostolic Vicar of Central Shensi; Domenico Pozzoni, Apostolic Vicar of Southern Kwangtung and Gian Pellegrino Mondaini, Apostolic Vicar of Southern Hunan.

Bogus "Prince" Says He's French King

PRINCE Louis Henri de Bussigny de Bourbon" is a highsounding title for a factory hand, and this "Prince Louis," et cetra, has now vanished from New York, after fooling a Court and four women, to whom, the police claim, he is married. He left his "secretary," a former U. S. sailor, to whom he owed $50, and his latest wife. He even caused a New York Magistrate to censure two policemen who arrested him when he tried to draw his sabre on them. He told of saving the Czar's life and commanding 4,500,000 Russian soldiers in the World War, but——

It was discovered he was Harold Schwarm, a factory hand, of New Britain, Conn., who at various times has worked as a cook in cheap restaurants and posed as a relative of John D. Rockefeller and John Jacob Astor. And he was so smooth people believed him. Lillian Wilkomerson, a pretty little stenographer, was his "Queen" when he declared he would be King in France were a monarchy. She married him and then worked to support him, and she still believes in him.

Swedish Residents Give Farewell Dinner To Baron Akerhielm

Prominent members of the Swedish Community gave a farewell dinner at the Shanghai Club on Saturday to the Swedish Consul General, Baron Akerhielm who will shortly be leaving his post in Shanghai.

The toast to the guest of honor was proposed by Mr. E. Edwards, who on behalf of the Swedish Community expressed the appreciation of the untiring and very successful work laid down by Baron Akerhielm for the furthering of Swedish commercial interests in China. Various other speakers also testified the popularity Baron Akerhielm has gained during his time of office.

Mojave Sailors Being Entertained By Navy Y.M.C.A.

Sailors from the U. S. S. Mojave, which brought Secretary E. C. Huston and his party across the Pacific, were entertained by the Navy Y. M. C. A. here Saturday and Sunday, the gobs going on a sight-seeing trip to the Chinese City Saturday afternoon. Sunday night a song service was held at the Y. M. C. A., while an excellent program of moving pictures followed.

Last night and tonight the sailors from the Mojave are to attend picture shows at the Victoria Theater, the management having extended an invitation the visiting gobs. Arrangements for transportation in street cars have been made by the Navy Y.

An informal dance will be held at the "Y" on Wednesday night, which will be in the nature of a farewell to the Mojave, which sails Thursday. British sailors from all ships in port have been invited.

Secretary A. C. Ellis, who is in charge of the entertainment for the Mojave sailors, announced yesterday that a monster dance would be held in Town Hall on October 6, when it is expected that 3,000 people will attend. The dance will be for the officers and men of the Asiatic destroyer flotilla and other ships due to arrive here shortly from Chefoo.

Husar Investigating Death Of Navy Man At Peking Hospital

In connection with a trip he is making to Peking United States District Attorney Leonard G. Husar, according to announcement made here yesterday, is making a further investigation of the death of Chief Radio Electrician Bernard Quinn, United States Navy, who died from poisoning at the Peking Union Medical College hospital on August 28.

Shortly after Quinn's death the authorities of the hospital gave out the following frank account of the tragedy:

"Mr. Quinn, a petty officer of the U. S. Navy, was referred to the Peking Union Medical College Hospital on August 15th, by Dr. Warner, the Post Surgeon. He was found to be suffering from a moderate sized carbuncle over the right scapular region. This was excised under gas and oxygen anaesthesia. Convalescense was unusually prompt and satisfactory.

"On August 28th, Dr. Taylor inspected the wound and found it ready for skin grafting. He ordered the assistant resident, who is making a special study of treatment of carbuncles, to do the skin graft under local anaesthesia. This surgeon has done many skin graft operations and was considered fully qualified to handle the case.

"By mistake the surgeon was handed a solution of cocaine instead of novocaine. This was injected subcutaneously preparatory to doing the operation. Before, however, the skin graft had been performed, the patient began to show symptoms of coccine poisoning and the mistake was discovered. In spite of every effort to save his life, he succumbed after about two hours.

OPPOSE LOAN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 18.—A group of Kiangsi people recently petitioned the President and the Cabinet opposing Mr. Chin Sieh-yuan's proposal to float a Provincial loan of $6,000,000 for the purpose of covering the provincial deficit. The matter was referred to the Ministry of Finance.

NAVY GETS $60,000

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 18.—The Ministry of the Navy has obtained an appropriation of $60,000 from the Ministry of Finance which it will apply to the arrears of salary.

ALLIES FEAR FORCE WILL BE NECESSARY TO CHECKMATE KEMALISTS

London Newspapers Urge Anglo-French Solidarity As Most Effective Means Of Meeting Threatened Challenge From Victors

CANADA ASKED TO SEND CONTINGENT

Invitation To Take Part On Defence Of Straits Causes Great Surprise In Ottawa, And Meeting Of Cabinet Council Has Been Called To Consider It

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Sept. 13.—The key to the situation at present is Chanak at the head of the famous Narrows. Kemal Pasha's friends are urging him to occupy Chanak and thus confront the coming conference with a fait accompli but H.M.S. Iron Duke has landed naval reinforcements so that all danger of a surprise occupation has passed. Colonel Shuttleworth is in command of the defences which are already formidable. Bluejackets are helping the Allied soldiers to dig in. They are working six hours a day on the entrenchments.

London, Sept. 18.—The necessity for wholehearted Anglo-French co-operation as the most effective means of convincing Kemal Pasha of the unwisdom of challenging Allied influence is insisted on by today's papers.

The Times especially reasons with France, which received the British statement of September 16 somewhat chillily, especially as regards armed intervention if necessary. The paper points out that both nations are bent on preserving the permanent freedom of the Straits. The difference of opinion is chiefly one of method, France favoring sole reliance on diplomacy while Great Britain thinks that it should be backed up by visible, tangible evidence of the earnestness of the intention to defend the neutral zones.

It show that Britain is equally as reluctant as France to engage in armed conflict as she recognises the incalculable consequences of resorting to forcible action, even in the unquestionable vindication of rights. The paper thinks that both nations have been guilty of faults since the Armistice and that they must adopt a give and take attitude.

The Daily News declares that the safety of the Straits, the permanent maintenance of which is unanimously emphasised in every quarter, will be due to the intervention of the Little Entente, with which France is anxious to remain on good terms. The paper favors an early conference of the Great Powers, at which all the Balkan States, not excluding Bulgaria, should be invited to settle the position in the Near East once and for all. Stress is laid on Rumania's vital interest in getting an outlet to the Mediterranean and the other Balkans are anxious to be freed from the danger involved in having the Turks as neighbors.

Under the heading "Stop this new war," the Daily Mail attacks the Government's policy in the Near East as "bordering on insanity" and trusts that the Dominions will flatly refuse to become entangled in another disastrous military enterprise. It says that Mustapha Kemal's peace terms are not far removed from the terms propounded by Lord Curzon and considers that his demand for the Maritza line is at present not excessive. The journal agrees with the statement of the Aga Khan in an interview that access to the Black Sea can be safeguarded by an international commission.

A fresh occasion for alarm is discovered by the Morning Post which trenchantly attacks Mr. Lloyd George's policy and adopts an "I told you so" attitude. It says that behind Angora's armies are Moscow's counsels and the Bolsheviks straining every effort to reach the Straits. The journal expresses the opinion that Mustapha Kemal and the Bolsheviks will hesitate to face a combination of the Allied and Balkan States but fears that Mustapha Kemal will consequently divert his attention against Britain alone in the Irak, Palestine, Egypt and the whole Moslem world.

The distinction between the freedom of the Straits which it emphasises as among the primary conditions of the security of the Empire, and Turkish ownership of Constantinople is not lost sight of by the Daily Telegraph which hopes for an early settlement in which Constantinople will be handed over in accord-

JAPAN MAKING GREAT HEADWAY ON DISARMAMENT

Several Battleships And Cruisers Now Being Dismembered

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 16.—In connection with taking to pieces of men-of-war to be scrapped as a sequel to the Washington Treaty, a representative of the Eastern News Agency today paid a visit to the Yokosuka Naval Arsenal and made an inspection of the actual work of dismemberment on vessels. The battle-cruiser, Amagi, upon which operations were commenced simultaneously with the opening of the Washington Conference, has already been dismembered 38 percent, but any further work is suspended.

The battle-cruiser Ikoma, after being dismantled at the Yokosuka Naval Yard, had been sent to the Kure Naval Yard, where she will be taken to pieces. The battleship Mikasa, which was the flagship of the Japanese Fleet in the battle of the Japan Sea during the Russo-Japanese War, is in an unarmed condition without her principal armament. The battleship Fuji has had her principal and secondary armaments, as well as other fighting instruments, abolished. According to the authorities concerned, though both the Yokosuka and the Kure Naval Arsenals have never had any experience in the way of dismemberment work, the results of their operations are excellent, and it is said that within the fixed period of one year and eight months after the ratification of the Washington Treaty, all the vessels to be scrapped will be completely dismembered.

Tokio Explains Lifting Of Embargo

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 16.—Mr. Ichiki, Minister of Finance, today announces the decision of the Government regarding the removal of embargo on gold. The gist of the announcement is as follows: Inasmuch as the embargo on gold, which is an abnormal step on the part of the Government, was adopted during the Great War, it goes without saying that the Government should abolish such a step as soon as possible.

Taken from the present economic state of affairs in Japan, however, I should think that the time is premature as yet for the abolition of the embargo on gold, but when the economic condition abroad and at home gets stabilized a little more and in case the Government considers that the time has come when no radical change will be brought about in the financial world of Japan on account of the abolition of the embargo, the decision of the Government will be put in force without delay. A special consideration is being given as regards the unfavorable effect upon the rate of exchange to be caused by the continuance of the embargo, and the Government intends to facilitate as much as possible the circulation of Japanese specie abroad.

ance with the intentions of the Allies. The Journal thinks that it was well and wisely decided to lay the facts of the situation before the Dominions and to invite them to send contingents to defend the fruits of the victory for which they paid dear during the war. The ready answer of the Anzacs suffices to show that the overseas Dominions well understand what is at stake at the shores of the Dardanelles.

New York, Sept. 18.—American opinion urges that the Turks shall not be permitted to return to Europe.

Malta, Sept. 18.—A Scottish regiment and a detachment of the Air Force have left for Constantinople.

Smyrna, Sept. 18.—Plague has broken out owing to the absence of sanitary arrangements among the refugees, its victims adding to the toll by starvation and massacres.

London, Sept. 18.—It is reported from Riga that M. Trotsky presided over a secret conference of the Revolutionary Council at Moscow yesterday at which, it is reported, it was decided to prepare the southern military and naval forces for action, presumably to assist the Kemalists. One Soviet corps is believed to be stationed on the Turco-Asiatic frontier ready to assist in the march on Constantinople. It is understood that the Russo-Angora Treaty binds the Soviet to cooperate with the Nationalist in the capture of the Dardanelles, receiving as compensation complete freedom of action in the Black Sea.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—The news of the invitation of the Dominions to send a contingent to the Near East came as a great surprise to Government officials. The Premier, Mr. Mackenzie King, said that the matter was one for the Cabinet Council which will be held tomorrow. It is probable that a special session of Parliament will be summoned to deal with the matter.

Constantinople, Sept. 18.—The Turkish papers agree that the freedom of the Straits must be respected.

The principal Nationalist organ says that information from a semi-official source leads it to believe that the necessary sacrifices will be made within the limits of the National Pact to put an end to the present situation but it is absolutely impossible that the matter of the Straits shall go beyond the National Pact.

Paris, Sept. 17.—M. Poincare and the King of Serbia conferred for two and a half hours today on the Turco-Greek situation. The Serbian Foreign Minister was present and subsequently stated that the crossing of the Nationalists to the European side of the Straits would be regarded as most dangerous by Serbia, who, although she had not yet taken military measures, had informed Britain and France that she would be greatly alarmed by the return of Turkish rule in Thrace, which would seriously disturb the situation.

The Angora representative in Paris, Ferid Bey, afterwards called on the King of Serbia and his Foreign Minister and, it is understood, assured them that the return of the Turks to Thrace would in no way endanger the Balkan countries.

Gibraltar, Sept. 17.—The 1st Battalion of the North Staffordshire Regiment is standing by prior to leaving. It is understood that their destination is Constantinople.

Paris, Sept. 17.—The British statement of policy in the Near East is the subject of considerable newspaper comment this morning, which is unanimous in insisting on the freedom of the Straits but is otherwise noncommittal.

Attention is directed to the attitude of Britain, who in spite of her desire for a peaceful settlement is declared to be taking steps to reinforce the military contingents at Constantinople and to despatch warships in case of eventualities.

The papers are not enthusiastic in favor of France embarking on military operations against the Kemalists, though it is the general desire that France shall keep her engagements to the Allies.

The Petit Journal considers that the true solution of the problem of the security of the Straits is to entrust their defence to an independent force strong enough to deal with any would-be disturber of the peace, thus ensuring that the interest of all parties shall be adequately safeguarded.

London, Sept. 17.—The Government's firm declaration of its policy in the Turkish crisis was published too late to permit of much in the shape of comment in Sunday's papers.

The earlier exposition of the British views, together with the recognised seriousness of the position which led up to the notable statement, however, has sufficed to still the voices of critics who, up to the present, have disapproved the Government's past handling of the difficult situation which caused the Allied discussion.

The new French policy in a direction leaning more closely towards the British aims is apparently influenced by the complications which were not foreseen when the scene of action in the Near East was confined to Anatolia.

In the first place, it is due to the fact that the Little Entente, whose friendship France is cultivating, is determined to resist the Kemalist threat to regain its pre-war footing in Thrace, France's interests being naturally more intimately bound up with Europe than Angora. Secondly, the painful impression has arisen in Paris that the Kemalist successes have been obtained by means of substantial assistance from Moscow in the shape of munitions and aeroplanes in conjunction with French arms, as French hostility to Russia has not diminished.

Paris, Sept. 17.—It is reported from Angora that the Kemalist forces claim that 7,000 Greeks of "the last Greek army in Asia Minor" have been captured.

Smyrna Massacre Tragic, Turks Spared Nobody, Say Reports

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 16.—A report from Adana states that the Turkish authorities at Smyrna have arrested a number of Greeks and Armenians, who are alleged to have confessed to setting fire to the town.

Athens, Sept. 17.—Constantly arriving refugees from Asia Minor paint a terrible picture of the Smyrna tragedy, the true extent of which cannot yet be known.

It is stated that the Kemalists spared nobody except their coreligionists and the Jews. Groups headed by Turkish officers carried out systematic massacre and incendiarism accompanied by wholesale looting. Multilated corpses are strewn everywhere and the odor of burnt flesh from the ruins poisons the atmosphere.

Women and girls were removed to the outskirts of the town where they were raped and then murdered. No Armenians have been seen in Smyrna since Thursday. It is feared that even the infants have been murdered. The quay on which the panic-stricken refugees concentrated presented a tragic spectacle.

The groans of the wounded and dying were audible on all sides. Numbers of corpses were visible floating in the harbor. It is impossible to learn the number of lives lost. The lowest estimate places the total at 120,000. Some Englishmen are missing but their fate is not known.

It is stated that there is reason to believe that some of them have been murdered.

Rome, Sept. 17.—According to a message from Smyrna dated September 16 the fire was still burning but had diminished in violence. Italian ships are taking off the refugees.

Telegrams state that all buildings on the flat have been burnt down. The Turks charge the Greeks with remaining in the town and hindering efforts to extinguish the flames, one cause being the entry of the Greek fleet into the port and bombarding the firemen.

The report of the alleged bombardment occurs in another message which asserts that the battleship, Kilkos, shelled the Turkish quarter. Moreover, the correspondent of the Sunday Express at Smyrna states that the Kemalists massed on the quay against the Allied marines who attempted to land yesterday morning.

Paris, Sept. 16.—It is reported from Angora that the Grand Assembly has issued an official communique to the people of Constantinople, urging them to await the intervention of the National Army and not to indulge in any insurrectionary movement.

London, Sept. 17.—A semi-official statement from Athens says that a Greek battleship wireless that the Turks have set fire to the town of Voural near Smyrna and have murdered nearly all the Greek and Armenian inhabitants.

Malta, Sept. 17.—A steamship, carrying another 750 British refugees, has arrived from Smyrna.

Paris, Sept. 17.—It is reported from Smyrna that the funds of the French banks there have been safely removed on board a French vessel.

Athens, Sept. 17.—Refugees from Smyrna state that British, American and Japanese vessels in the port took aboard all comers without examining their papers but French and Italian ships only accepted foreign subjects with passports.

London, Sept. 16.—Only three consulates are intact in Smyrna, the Belgian, Spanish and Norwegian.

Lloyd George To Call Cabinet Council

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 17.—The critical stage of the situation in the Near East is shown by the fact that Mr Lloyd George found it necessary to hold a further conference with a number of Cabinet Ministers at the Chequers today on the subject.

They were in communication with Lord Curzon and Government departments throughout the day.

A Cabinet council will be held at Downing Street at noon tomorrow.

The Serbian Minister of Foreign Affairs will come to London tomorrow to confer with Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Curzon.

Melbourne, Sept. 17.—After consulting the Cabinet the Commonwealth Premier, Mr. Hughes announced that the Government were prepared to send a contingent to the Near East if necessary.

Rome, Sept. 17.—The Tribuna states that Italy solidly supports the Allies in safeguarding the freedom of the Straits but the paper has reason to believe that Italy will be unable to assist with contingents in the event of military operations becoming necessary.

London, Sept. 17.—It is announced that Great Britain is strongly reinforcing her troops at Constantinople, and is asking Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Greece to participate in the defence of the neutral zones.

She has invited the Dominions to send contingents to defend the interests for which they have already made enormous sacrifices and the soil hallowed by the immortal memories of the Anzacs.

Orders have also been given to the British Fleet in the Mediterranean to oppose infraction of the neutral zones or any attempt by the Turks to cross to the European shore.

The announcement that the help of the Dominions has been invited concludes a statement of the British Government view of the situation, which declares that the Kemalist demands involve the entire loss of the results of the victory over Turkey in the late war.

Great Britain is prepared for great exertions to defend the freedom of the Straits. She is gratified that her views are shared by France and Italy.

The question of Constantinople is somewhat different. The Allied Conference in London in January, 1921 announced the intention of restoring Constantinople to the Turks subject to a satisfactory adjustment of other matters.

Great Britain desires a conference as soon as possible in order to secure a stable peace but a conference is impossible while there is the question of the Kemalists attacking the neutral zones.

The Commissioners at Constantinople have been instructed to notify Kemal Pasha that the zones must be respected but it is futile to trust to diplomatic action alone in view of the excited mood and extravagant claims of the Kemalists.

London, Sept. 16.—The New Zealand Government, replying to Britain's communication with regard to the Turkish situation, declare that they associate themselves in the action, proposed by the Allies, and will be represented by a contingent.

London, Sept. 16.—The Home Secretary, speaking at Newcastle today, asserted that Britain, France and Italy were determined to preserve the Freedom of the Straits.

It was almost certain that more troops would have to be sent but, whatever force was necessary to prevent the Kemalists from coming into Europe, it would be provided.

London, Sept. 16.—An important gathering of Cabinet Ministers are spending the weekend with Mr. Lloyd George at the Chequers.

The Foreign Office up to the present has not received news of any fatalities to British subjects at Smyrna.

ASIA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
EVERLASTING AS THE HIMALAYAS INCORPORATED

Just Between Ourselves

(No. 22 of a series)

"I don't need life insurance—I can save my own money."

"THAT is probably true: you can. But will you? Are you sure that you will live long enough to save all that you would like and need to save to take care of your responsibilities at your death? Your potential value is great, and there is only one absolutely sure, safe and scientific way to protect that value, since you do not know just when death will occur.

"IF you should die after one year of saving, the amount left by you would be very small compared with the amount you would leave if the same sum were invested in insurance."

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefuly and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

Yangtsze Collision Claims Made By Shipping Company Now Before British Court

Litigation arising from a collision in the Yangtsze on April 20 last between the steamers Teh Hsing and Hanwoo is now being heard by Judge Peter Grain in the British Supreme Court. In the action before the court trial of which began yesterday, the San Peh Steamship Company, owners of the Teh Hsing, is seeking to recover the sum of Tls. 7,492 from the Indo-China Steam Navigation company, owners of the Hanwoo, which at the time of the accident was towing four lighters.

The Indo-China Steam Navigation Co. brought a counter-claim against the San Peh Shipping Company, asking damages for the collision and alleging that it was caused by the negligence of the San Peh Company Servants.

Mr. R. F. C. Master for the San Peh Company, mentioned that although in the ordinary way a British plaintiff could not claim in the Supreme Court against a foreigner, the counsel on both sides had agreed to accept the Court's decision and to abide by its decision. There was no formal decision by the Judges of the Supreme Court on this particular question of the right of a Britisher to counter claim from a foreign defendant in the British Court.

Mr. MacLean discussed the law governing the right to counter-claim from a foreigner in a British Court. He mentioned that no counter-claim could be made by a "reluctant" foreign defendant, but if, as in the present case, the parties were agreed that the counter-claim should be heard by this Court, the application should be admitted.

Mr. Master, in opening his case, said that the collision occurred on the night of April 20 in the reach between the horseshoe bend and Loatotung village, two miles from Tatung side of the river.

The weather was slightly misty, the defendants adding in their reply that it was raining a bit and that the banks of the river were visible, which the plaintiffs did not desire to deny. The plaintiffs lay the blame of the collision to the negligence of the master of the defendant vessel, failure to keep a proper look-out and turning too sharply and not exhibiting any light on the lighters.

HANWOO ON WRONG SIDE

The Teh Hsing is a vessel of 1270 tons register, and on the night of the collision was bound from Shanghai to Canton with general cargo and a crew of 190. When she was three miles from the village she had sighted the Hanwoo. The Teh Hsing was travelling 6 to 8½ knots an hour. When about half a cable from the Teh Hsing, the Hanwoo turned her course and almost immediately after she passed the Teh Hsing, the Hanwoo turned starboard and her stern struck the other vessel just about the bridge, damaging it badly. By reason of the collision the Teh Hsing was forced to ground on the left bank of the river.

Mr. Master said the Hanwoo was proceeding on the wrong side of the channel and no signal was given and no lights were exhibited. The collision occurred at about 1.40 p.m. The Hanwoo was coming from Hankow to Shanghai and was proceeding north-east to north.

The case for the defendants was that the Hanwoo was carrying the necessary regulation lights which were burning, and shortly after passing the village the Teh Hsing turned and ran into her. The defendants alleged that it was the Teh Hsing that failed to keep proper look-out, and to give any sound or signal, and alleged that the collision was caused by the negligible action of the Teh Hsing.

Mr. Master submitted that the reply of the defendants to some of the clauses in the plaintiff was insufficient and asked that the Court order the defendants to give fuller answers to some particular causes. Mr. Master referred to the paragraph, where the defence stated the collision occurred "about two and a half miles after we left the village." That, Mr. Master characterised, was an imperfect answer.

His Lordship said that he could not see how he could compel the defendants to amend that paragraph as they had stated that the night was dark, and the natural inference would be that the master of the Hanwoo would not be able to see any trees, although strange enough both sides admitted that they could see both sides of the bank of the river.

Mr. MacLean added that the defendants had already given the speed the vessel was traveling.

CLAIMS HANWOO HAD ROOM

Mr. Master said that the time of the collision as given by the defendants was five minutes later than that of the plaintiffs. Again, it was not sufficient for the defendants to state that the vessel was going downstream when the collision occurred. The defendants should give the exact course that the Hanwoo was taking. The answer, he considered, was very insufficient. The Hanwoo's case was that she was towing lighters and she saw two red lights, which were the port lights.

The defendants' story was that the Hanwoo was going up the river and followed through usual course for up steamers. After passing the light ship her course was almost straight across. After going up the creek in this part she rounded the light ship about a cable, and both vessels made for through "tree" side of the creek, and when they got to that point on the bank they altered their course, and they saw a light of the village, the course was steered a south-west by south which took them along to the village. When the Teh Hsing was on her course and three miles from the village she saw lights of the Hanwoo. Orders were given to port a little, which was done, and which brought the vessel a little more closely to the bank, and gave sufficient space to the Hanwoo to pass.

Mr. Master continued to say that at that time the Teh Hsing had seen the red lights of the Hanwoo, and when the vessel saw the Hanwoo coming the Teh Hsing was close to the bank. The Hanwoo came up, and passing a little over half a cable, collided with the Teh Hsing. The force of the collision was sufficient to drive the Teh Hsing ashore.

The Chinese master of the Teh Hsing testified that he had been in command of the vessel since January. He had a chef officer's certificate from the Woosung Mercantile Marine college, and had permission to go as master. He was registered at the Customs. He was chief officer on river and "outside" ships. He was second mate on the Mingsha, a river boat.

The Teh Hsing left Shanghai on April 19 for Hankow, he said. On the night of April 20, he retired at 8 o'clock and the chief officer and pilot were in charge. The weather was slightly misty, with very little rain and S. E. wind. The speed of the Teh Hsing was 8-2 to 9 knots.

Continuing, witness said: The current was against us and we would make 6¾ knots only. I awoke just when the collision occurred. I went to the port side of the bridge. The vessel was then 20 feet off the shore. I saw tugs and lighters and I went to the middle of the bridge and saw the Teh Hsing going ashore.

When I came out of the cabin the engine stopped. I saw the Hanwoo on the port side.

Cross-examined by Mr. MacNeill: Has a downward going steamer got a right to pass a vessel that is going up?—Yes.

Supposing one vessel has the stream against her and the other has the stream with her, would you agree with me that the steamer that has the stream with her has a right together with the other?—Yes.

That being so, do you think or not that when you put your ship 20 feet from the bank she was was too close to the bank?—Yes.

The witness added that the chief officer stopped the engine after the collision.

Did I understand you to say that before the collision she was a great many feet away from the bank than 20 feet?—Yes. At the time I turned it she was about 20 feet away. This was two minutes after the collision.

Will you agree with me that the tonnage of the lighters was much less than the ship?—Yes, the ship was heavily laden.

Witness added that the blow was not a direct one but a glancing blow.

Do you still say that it was the force of the blow that caused you to go close to the shore?—Yes.

How long was it after you got that blow that you got to the shore?—About two minutes.

I may take it that your log book is correct, and also that the engineer room log book is correct. The reason why I ask you this is that in your engine log book it is recorded that you went full astern at 11.52, that is two minutes after the collision and stopped at 12.2, that is 12 minutes, full astern. You really have the courage to say that you were pushed ashore? These two stories do not agree, you will admit?—When the ship was pushed inside by the last lighter she was not parallel to the bend and when I used the engines she went alongside and became parallel and stuck there. When she went ashore I used "full speed," but it had no effect. The vessel went ashore and did not come off.

How far from the bend is that track of vessels in the river?—There is no track in the Yangtsze. The channel is about half a mile.

If I tell you that the lighters have towed in three and one, would you still say that it is not so?—I say that the lighters were towed two by two. My impression is that they were in two tiers.

What caused the collision, do you think, although you did not see it? —The cause of the collision is that the Hanwoo turned out too quickly.

Have you ever seen a tug in tow turning?—Yes.

English Report On Shell Shock Tells Of Man's Reaction To War's Stress

London, Aug. 12.—"The unhappily married man was generally a good soldier, but usually got killed. The happily married man took one thought for himself and two for his wife and children." These statements are among the findings of the War Office committee on shell shock.

They are an elaborate analysis of all phases of men's reaction to the peril and stress of war. The committee finds very few cases where the shock of high explosives actually produced abnormalities in men previously normal, but says that many higher grades of mental defectives enlisted made good soldiers.

The report says that preventive measures against those breakdowns include the promotion of morale by the detection of nervous abnormalities by officers, adequate rest, short spells on front line duty, and sanitation. It recommends separate treatment of shell shock cases, with persuasion and suggestion, baths and massage. While hypnotic sleep is sometimes beneficial, it is not generally, and the committee strongly condemns Freudian psychoanalysis.

The document is a fascinating study of the reaction of various men to various types of danger. The testimony of medical and com bat general officers in all branches was taken. It was a medical officer who made the distinction between the happily and unhappily married. He also said a nervous break could be foretold when the wild fighting type became mood, and quiet, or when the sullen type became excitable and talkative, and when the careful became reckless or the previously well behaved committed petty offenses.

Miners, farm laborers and other men insured to hard physical lives were less liable to a neurotic break than city workers. Squadron leader W. Tyrrell, who won recognition for bravery, discussing fear, testified that "it takes an enormous amount of energy to repress it. The likeliest type for shell shock is the broody, introspective and self-analysing, while the men of high intelligence who adopt the fatalist attitude fortified themselves, and, for the most part, carried on."

A Maker Of Men

Another film by the same author of scenario, "The Stream of Life" is in town and will be shown at the Olympic Theater Wednesday evening, September 20.

Dr. James K. Shields, genius, poet, dramatist, reformer takes as the hero of this gripping play, Bruce Douglas, a lad in a rough mining town. Early in his youth Bruce evidences that he is no respector of persons. From saving "Skinny," the newsy from a gang of hoodlums, to being hero of the terrific mine explosion which brings him the reward of being adopted by the mine owner, Bruce shows of what material he is made.

He chooses a life work contrary to his foster father's wishes, is disowned, goes to the mountain districts of Tennessee, routs a gang of ruffians, establishes order and transforms the community While he challenges men, and cleans up immoral mire his foster father finds in his wealth and his grandson, Charlie, remorse and disgrace.

Charlie's forgery, his escape, the hiding place in the mountains, the marrying of beautiful Loraine Buckner, the disappearance, the storm, the rescue and what happened and how the disowned foster son brought it about presents six reels of pathos, tragedy, humor, in which the author shows his hero to be "not a fool, nor ass, nor mollycoddle, but one of the ablest, truest and best men in national life, who Roosevelt said, was among the most powerful factors in winning the West."

Fame Through A Single Poem

Edmond Waller, who lives in the anthologies because of one lyric "Co. Lovely Rose," is frequently offered as a proof that a writer cannot live on style alone. Another instance is that of the author of a poem of which only this one stanza has been kept alive:

O could I flow like thee, and make thy stream.
My great example as it is my theme!
Though deep, yet clear, though gentle, yet not dull.
Strong without rage, without o'erflowing full.

This is the quatrain that concludes the poem "The Thames," by Sir John Denham (1613-1668). The lines quoted are the only commendable ones in it. They did not appear when the poem was first published and it was hinted that Waller, whose disciple Denham was, suggested or wrote them.

Criminal Wills Body To French Officials

Paris, Aug. 12.—"To the Public Prosecutor I leave my stomach; to the Prefect of Police, who escaped death on the 14th of July, I leave my hair, on condition that he has it made up into talismans of good luck; my smooth skin I leave to the chief detective of the force." So reads part of the testament written in a firm hand by Mecislas Charrier just before being guillotined for complicity in an armed attack upon a French express train.

Pressed for time, the executioners told Charrier he must stop writing and follow them. He therefore smiled and ended his will thus: "Unfinished on account of involuntary death."

Charrier was one of the coolest criminals who ever knelt under the guillotine. When he was awakened by the executioners he asked for cigarettes, coffee and rum, of which last he drank two glasses. As he was leaving the prison he called for his gloves—"a gentleman like me cannot die without his gloves," and to the priest who told him to be courageous he said: "This is only a detail. Don't worry; your turn will come soon."

Germany Also Has Big Bootlegging Industry

(Chung Mei Service)

Berlin, Aug. 24.—Prohibitionless Germany has entered the ranks of the bootlegger.

"Scotch" whisky, "French" champagne and "American" cigarettes, manufactured, however, within the borders of Germany at German prices, are flooding the markets of Berlin, Hamburg and other leading cities at prices demanded for the real imported products.

This innovation is caused largely by the fact that so many foreigners are coming into the country demanding their Scotch and their French liquors and their favorite fag. Almost any fashionable bar in Berlin, patronised largely by foreigners, has its "Scotch" whisky for sale. The stuff is put up in what appear to be regulation bottles, but the contents are about equal to the undrinkable bootleg products of any American city. It is made of cheap alcohol with just a little smoky-Scotch flavor.

One brand of this so-called Scotch on the market here has all of the labels of the original Scotch and the bottle looks the same but the little paster near the neck of the bottle fails to comform to the original. It fails to mention the Prince of Wales, the only reference being "To His Majesty." This is manufactured in Germany and sold at immense profit as imported whisky. One drink of it is sufficient to enable a connoisseur to brand it "bootleg."

French liquors are as easily imitated. Berlin police discovered in one establishment an enormous stock of "French" liquors. Later it was found that not only the bottles and labels were perfectly counterfeited, but strangely enough the contents were accurately limited. This fake is also sold at the usual prices asked for imported products.

Another bootleg activity unearthed touches the foreigner directly. All night wine-rooms and bars sell an imitation of French champagne to rich Germans and what they call "valuta starke Auslander" (outsiders strong with foreign exchange). They sell their victims a lot of terrible German champagne which is made of sacharine and fruits instead of grapes and sugar. One can get drunk on either the real or the imitation brands but the latter always leave the victims sicker and weaker the day after.

Several popular brands of American cigarettes are being imitated and sold by peddlers about the streets at fancy prices. These cigarettes are manufactured down in the Saar valley from materials that smell and taste like a cross between snuff and hay. One little mistake which enables the cigarettes, fan to detect the fake, aside from the lack of kick he gets out of his inhalation, may be found in the picture on the package. Besides this the animal represented thereon is a bit off color.

These fakes, at least, have been unearthed. Whether bootleg activities have been extended to other fields, the American does not profess to know. He can only hope and pray—and pay.

Chinese Company, S.V.C., Holds Autumn Rifle Meet

The Autumn Rifle Meeting (16th semi-annual) of the Chinese Co., S.V.C., was held and completed at the Rifle Range on Saturday and Sunday. Weather conditions were all that could be expected, and the meeting was a great success. The attendance was most excellent, almost every member of the unit, except those on leave, being present. Competition was naturally very keen.

The meeting consisted of 10 events composed of all the practices of the annual musketry course of the S.V.C. Much interest was shown in the "Ladies' Prize shoot, over 330 ladies' tickets being sold.

Assisted by 2nd Lieuts. K. T. Doo and C. G. Hoh, and Corps Q. M. Sgt. W. T. Rose, Hon. Musketry Instructor to Chinese Co., Capt. T. A. Zee personally conducted the meeting. The detailed work was ably managed by the Musketry Committee of the Company consisting of the following members: L.-Cpls. Y. C. Waung, J. S. Chen and Pte. D. W. Kan.

Col. R. Marr Jonnson, C.M.G., D.S.O. Commandant, S.V.C., visited the Range Sunday morning. He was very pleased with the systematic manner in which discipline and control were maintained.

A notable feature on the shoot was the many possibles made on the various grades. Following is a list of leading prize winners of each event and each class, including winners of Ladies Prize.

Court Orders Football Game Replayed For It

Berlin, Aug. 12.—A championship football game which was played early last spring is to be played over before one Berlin Judge, who thereupon will decide a libel suit. The winning team brought action against the sporting editor of a Berlin paper, who wrote that the players looked like convicts and that their brutality would make a bull fight look tame. The same Judge has been called upon frequently to decide upon the morality of plays, and invariably ordered special performances to form a judicial opinion.

SAYS "BUGS" Baer:

CALLING THE COWS HOME

Is Music Compared With Yodeling The Hosses Back To The Bungalow

Saratoga, Aug. 16.—Singing the baby to sleep is something like rooting the horses home. Baby will go to sleep when he wants to and hossy will rattle home when his legs bring him. But every uncle's nephew in Saratoga imagines that his personal vocal efforts will make his hoss win.

They start squawking when the barried pops and never cease down until the merry-go-round stops for the afternoon. A winning favorite slides down the stretch to a roar that would make a boiler factory pull in its smoke stacks in shame. Most of the cuckoos holler anything that comes into their hats and the results are equivalent to a round trip on the tower of Babel.

He's giving him a bad ride!

That's the standard yell of Saratoga finishing school. They yelp it during the parade past the judges and before the barrier has been sprung.

He's getting a bad ride! They're off! That bum couldn't ride on a trolley car with both doors locked. Greasespot in front.

Greasespot. Measles second! That bird is sticking to him like molasses candy to your teeth! What's that thing in front?

That jock is pulling him like a mule on an Erie canal boat! Measles first! There goes the family jewels! Wow! Measles will leave those roaches like a kid leaving a schoolhouse! Grease spot catches Measles!

Come on, Greasespot! He's dogging it! His tail is starting to wag! He's getting a bad ride! They got blinkers on that hoss instead of on the jockey! Where did that Zebra come from?

Scarlet cap, green collars and cuffs and purple sash! What stable is that? Greasespot is fading! Measles is cured! Come on, you Dandruff!

He's giving him a worse ride than Henry Ford gave the public! Yea Bo! Dandruff!

Up until this time a lot of frankfurters have been making the pace. They have been playing that old childhood game of run-shoepie-run. Then along at the three-quarter pole they start to slow up like a fat man going up a flight of steps. Peruna, the favorite, steps on it and shows his nose in the front seats.

That's when the real roar is established. You can't pick out any special words in it. It is just a long international bellow with every known national chirp mixed in it. A hash of dialects. It keeps growing fatter and fatter until the favorite steams over the finish line and then gradually simmers down to scattered squawks from the boys whose hosses got bad rides.

Eric Moller Wins 'Farewell' Cup Of Clay Pigeon Club

The competition held on the grounds of the Shanghai Clay Pigeon Club on Sunday afternoon for the "Farewell" Cup kindly presented by Mr. T. E. Doremus was won by Mr. Eric Moller who broke 38 out of 40 birds, his score with a handicap of 6 totalling 44 while the next highest was 40½.

After the pretty cup had been handed to the fortunate winner Mr. Ambrose, President of the Club, addressing Mr. Doremus expressed on behalf of the members the great regret they all felt at losing so popular a member, and presented him with a souvenir in the form of a gold match box as a slight token of their appreciation of his association with the Club.

The members and visitors present then drank to Mr. Doremus' health and wished him "bon voyage" to which he replied appropriately in a few well chosen words.

The following are the scores:

Oldsters Prove Superior To "Under 30's" At Cricket

Aided by their greater experience, plus a superiority of bowling talent, the cricket team composed of players over thirty years of age defeated the eleven made up of men who have not yet passed that mile post in a well played match that started Saturday and continued through Sunday. The older players disposed of their younger opponents by a margin of six wickets.

The pitch, while softened by recent rains, proved to the bowlers' liking, with the result that the youngsters had very little opportunity to get their bats to working. On Saturday the side was set down with only 59 runs. This was not a very terrifying mark for the older players to shoot at, and it didn't take them long to demonstrate that they had an edge on the juveniles, not only in bowling, but in batting as well. Harry Ollerdessen, first up, gathered 33 runs before he was retired, including a 6, two 4s, a 3 and three 2s. Cockburn, who started a partnership with Ollerdessen, gathered a dozen, and these, aside from 14 hit up by Capt. Barrett, were about all the Seniors got, the tail end being a great disappointment.

In Sunday's session the youngsters did a little better than on the day before, totalling 74. But by this time the older players, led by Capt. Barrett with a 71, the highest score of the contest, were well on the way to victory. Their total for the day reached 139.

SUPERSTITIOUSSAY EVIL STAR SHINES ON ELYSEE PALACE

'Look Back At History,' They Say, In Fear For Millerand And Poincare

RECALL VIOLENT DEATHS

Say It Is Bad Omen When Wife Of Official Accompanies Him On Journey

Paris, Aug. 12.—Notwithstanding the strong police guard now maintained around President Millerand and Premier Poincare, pessimists are fearful that the reported projected attempt upon the lives of the two statesmen may be carried out.

"Look back at history," they say, "and you will see that the Elysee palace is watched over by an evil star." Superstitious persons claim that when presidents and premiers' wives show a determination to accompany their husbands on trips it is an evil omen.

They recall President Carnot's wife, who did her utmost to accompany her husband to Lyons when he was stabbed to death by an anarchist. They point out that Mme. Poincare with difficulty overcame the Premier's desire not to have her go with him into the Argonne where he went to inaugurate a war monument. It was noticed that the Premier's wife kept always directly in front of him, though on previous occasions she was always ready to stand back.

"The Elysee is synonymous with ill fate," is the pessimists claim. President Felix Faure died a mysterious death in the palace. The late Paul Deschanel's agony began when he entered the French White House, and it was Murat's last residence in France before he was assassinated as the King of Naples.

In practically every case, it is pointed out, the wives of these statesmen were the first to have a presentiment of the tragic death of their husbands. Therefore, only recently the receipt of anonymous letters threatening the lives of Millerand and Poincare have been considered seriously. Mme. Millerand and Mme. Poincare first had such letters come their way.

Therefore, today they believe they have a legitimate reason to report the missives to the police. They themselves closely scrutinise all who approach their husbands and then accompany the latter whenever they are called out of the city.

It is well known that since the attempt made upon the life of Georges Clemenceau the automobiles used by the President and Premier have had built into their sides reinforced steel plates, and a number of motors conveying police and detectives always closely follow the vehicles carrying the statesmen.

The Century's Greatest Story

The World's Greatest Picture

THE FOUR HORSEMEN Of the Apocalypse

Translated to the screen from Blasco Ibanez's internationally famous novel that has gone through more than 200 prints and has thrilled more than 20,000.000 people in every part of the world.

11 parts Romance that inspires, beauty that enthralls, spectacle that astounds in its magnificence. parts 11

When Julio first met Marguerite they knew that their love was a hopeless one but—— Alas! could they have foreseen the end of the affair they would not have began their romance which will go down through the ages as one of the greatest ever dreamed.

In an effort to convey to the mind of the public an idea of an unusual picture's impressiveness, producers of photoplays often have resorted to a listing of statistics; a mention of the money spent on it, the gross weight of steel And stone used, structural work, the mileage of the film exposed, and the like.

As well gauge the greatness of a master's painting by the number of tubes of color he has used, as to argue that "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is the supreme picture play in the screen's history merely because it required over a million to make, a year to photograph, and six months to prepare for the camera.

And so, despite the interest of these off-the-screen facts, we ask you to forget them. The picture can achieve its aim only when you respond in the measure intended to its drama; when you share the joy and the dejection of its people to the fullest; when you thrill as they thrill to the big moments in life; when you, watching their images on the silver screen, veritably live their experiences.

Oh, what a Perfect Silent Drama!

Armed, Uniformed Bandits Are Terrorising Shantung

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsinanfu, Shantung, Sept. 11. —Your correspondent came here over part of the Chefoo-Weihsien motor road and the Tsingtau-Tsinanfu railway. The crops throughout the eastern end of Shantung this year were good and the fall harvest was abundant. We find the people in this part of China living in better homes than in any other part of North China.

That section lying east and north of the Tsingtau-Tsinanfu railway has until recently been noted for its peaceful condition, being unusually free of bandits and other outlaws, but during the past four months the conditions have greatly changed. Robber bands have terrorised the people, looting and carrying away wealthy people, holding them for ransom. The military authorities are helpless for they have not been in the habit of preparing for such. Their soldiers are consequently outnumbered and unable to protect the people.

In the Sahoa and Laichowfu district a band of some 150 robbers have held sway for nearly two weeks. They made headquarters on the high Taitseisan mountain south of Laichowfu. While the growing kaoliang was still unharvested these robbers came into the country as ordinary laborers seeking work, each man carrying his pitol and ammunition concealed in his scant clothing and bedding. Rifles and other ammunition were brought in some other way. The supposed laborers were able to apprehend the rich villages and wealthy men in these villages. When the appointed timed arrived the robbers appeared at certain places dressed in soldiers' uniforms and well armed. In one county they would claim to be soldiers from the adjoining county and demanded certain rich men and took them away. After some twenty or more of the wealthy men had been kidnapped, several villages were looted and others were forced to furnish large sums of money or be looted. An example was made of what is known as "Large Village," near Lantsewn on the Tsingtau-Tsinan Railway. This village, it is claimed, was first looted and then part of it burned. It is said that everyone fled except an old woman. She was found hid under a bed, was dragged out and shot.

After some twenty or more men had been kidnapped and numerous villages robbed, the relatives of these taken were given word as to where money could be sent for redemption. The places given are around Tsingtau. When the robbers began their operations soldiers were sent from Hwang hsien, Laichowfu, Sahoa and other cities, but they were either afraid or too few in numbers to do anything with the robbers. By the time these soldiers arrived the robbers had completed their work and were safely fortified on Taitseisan. The soldiers surrounded the mountain but managed to let the robbers escape without any loss of life! In one village, near Sahoa there were ten soldiers. These soldiers were run out of the village and their rifles and ammunition taken from them. One soldier lost part of his scalp.

It is claimed by military authorities in the Laichowfu district that there are no less than 1,500 armed bandits between Laichowfu and Tsingtau and that they operate out of Tsingtau. At Weihsien we were told that some six hundred are looting and kidnapping in that region, mostly to the south. There has been, however, no effort to injure railroad property and all is peaceful along the railway, and on the Chefoo-Weihsien motor road no robberies are reported. People living in the villages have suffered most though the walled cities have feared trouble and the gates are usually closed tight at sundown. Conditions will improve, it is hoped, when the standing grain is all gathered.

It was reported in Shantung that the Japanese were going to encourage outlawry in this province to such an extent that it would be impossible for China to protect the railway and Japan would yet be able to hold on to this road. As the bandits are equipped with arms and ammunition of Japanese manufacture, and in view of the fact that they are making headquarters in the vicinity of Tsingtau, or actually in Tsingtau city, as it is claimed, prominent Chinese in the affected districts hold the Japanese largely responsible for the disturbed conditions. We have heard from several sources that an entire train load of robbers come out from Tsingtau and on a special train at night which carried no lights were allowed to leave the train at different stations along the line. The train was empty by the time it reached Weihsien. This is cited as evidence that Japan is not trying to help China solve her problems but is endeavoring to make it hard for her to govern the railway zone. It must be said, however, that during the recent fighting between Chang Tso-lin and Wu Pei-fu, Chang sent a lot of his Manchuria soldiers to Tsingtau with a view, it is claimed, to striking Wu in Shantung if opportunity presented itself. The bandits that are now causing so much trouble are well armed, organised and are equipped with uniforms. If they are to remain in this part of China, continued trouble may be expected.

Motor cars on the Chefoo-Weihsien road are running regularly from Weihsien to Hwanghsien and are heavily loaded. A force of capable Chinese are in charge. At Weihsien and other stations on the Tsingtau Railway where the Chinese guards have replaced the Japanese guards, the Chinese soldiers make a good appearance, taking their positions with a good deal of snap. Although there is considerable looting and robbery of villages in parts of Shantung through which the railway passes, there is doubt as to whether it is really necessary to maintain so large a guard along this line as the Japanese had. Not near so many soldiers guard the stations in other parts of China. The fact is, bandits are after ready money and this can be had easier by attacking the unprotected people in the country districts or taking away members of wealthy families and holding them for ransom. The latter is a very easy and common way of getting money, and large sums are being taken from the country districts in this way. It works a great hardship on the people. Many of the best families are ruined in this way. Business is demoralised to a considerable extent where the robbers begin to operate. When the bandits were leaving the Laichowfu district relatives of those who had been kidnapped requested that the soldiers not fire at the bandits for they were sure their people would be put to the fore.

All along the Tsingtau railway line marks of recent improvement are in evidence. Buildings have been painted, new sign boards placed at each station, canvass covers made for the scales, etc., etc. The Chinese claim that the Japanese have spent as much on the road as possible in order to make it impossible for China to pay for the road. The Japanese would probably reply that they have a right and should turn the line over in first-class condition.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 14.—Hunghutze who raided Ta Tumentung in Aomuhsien a fortnight ago carried off 100 rifles belonging the garrison. Kirin itself is now said to be threatened by the band of Hunghutze who recently raided Taotokow.

These latter brigands recently appeared near Shulanhsien, northeast of Kirin, and on ascertaining that the garrison had been despatched to deal with them moved rapidly on Wulachi, looted it and carried off a hundred prisoners.

This band is said to include some of General Chang Chinghui's former troops.

TO RESUME PAYMENT

(Reuter's Service)

Mexico City, Sept. 16.—The House of Representatives has unanimously approved the agreement with the International Bankers' committee for the resumption of the payment of Mexico's debt which was signed by the Mexican Secretary of the Treasury on June 17.

PETITION FOR PAY

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 14.—General Chiang Chou-tsung, former Chief of the Peking Gendermerie, and Prince Nayintu, representing the eight Tutungs in control of the men of the eight Banners, have sent a petition to the President pointing out that the Bannermen have not been paid for several months and are in a bad way.

The petitioners request that funds be allotted for this purpose as soon as possible.

MURDER CHARGE

(Reuter's Service)

Peking, Sept. 15.—Following the murder in the Hsiao Yuan Po Hutung a fortnight ago, in which a Chinese woman was killed and the life of her daughter attempted, the son-in-law of the victim, a man named Shih who is stated to be the perpetrator of the crime, has been apprehended and brought back to Peking for trial. He was captured by the Police at Hsinyangchow, Honan.

The Horror of Quicksand!
Death loomed large for Antonio Moreno and his beautiful leading woman, Pauline Curley, in this hair-raising scene from the most exciting and thrilling of all film serials. Locked in a massive limousine and being sucked slowly to death in a treacherous quicksand, rescue seems impossible. This is but one of the countless breath-taking scenes in this marvelous chaptered story of the screen. If you like excitement, you won't miss a chapter of—

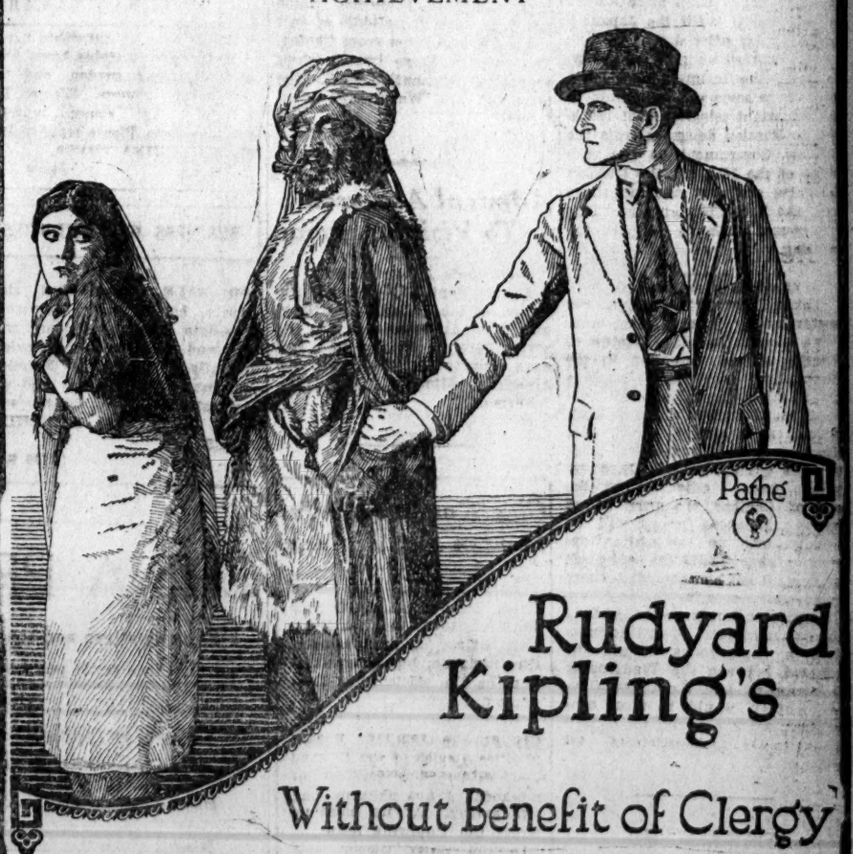
THE LITERARY CLASSIC, A PHOTOPLAY ACHIEVEMENT



Rudyard Kipling's
Without Benefit of Clergy
Bought as though she were a Lucknow dancing girl, instead of a child"
—KIPLING
Kipling knows the song of India.
Kipling knows the human heart.
He lifts the viel from both, in this, the most appealing love story the world has every known.
It is a stark and beautiful expression of life "where there ain't no ten commandments."
It is true in atmosphere, fervent in feeling."
All the glamour, witchery, and fascinating lure of this eternal love epic is yours to enjoy, and cherish in the golden corner of your memory, when you see Kipling's genius re-created in this photoplay attainment of the age.
"WITHOUT BENEFIT OF CLERGY"
WILL LIVE AS LONG AS MAN AND WOMEN LOVE.
Booking at Robinson's, 34 Nanking Road.

Museum Of Voices To Keep Record Of All Languages

Berlin, Aug. 12.—Languages and dialects, ranging from the talk of the Georgia plantation to the lingo spoken on the remotest island of the South Seas, and including the words of the world's most famous men, will be preserved in the museum of voices soon to be opened in Berlin, in connection with the phonetic department of the National Library.

The collection, which is already started, is the work of Prof. Wilhelm Doegen, phonetic expert. The first phonographic records include all the known dialects of the English language, and others in different tongues are to be added.

Gen. von Hindenburg and Rabindranath Tagore have registered their voices. The latter's record ends with a quotation of the most obscure Sanskrit. English dialects are reproduced through the quotation of the same verse in the Bible.

The records are of copper, bearing an engraved likeness of the speaker and his autograph. Prof. Doegen estimates that the records will last 10,000 years.

Sleep With Head To North, Physician, 109, Advised

Paris, Aug. 12.—If the documents unearthed by a French weekly journal are authentic and if their author carried out the theory he outlined in them Dr. Voronoff's monkey gland operation to assure long life has received a severe jolt.

The document, which has just been found, is dated 1860 and signed by Dr. von der Fischweiller, who is reported to have died at the age of 109. In it the doctor gives the following formula for assuring long life:

"When you go to bed always take a compass with you and with the aid of the compass place your bed in such a position that your head points directly north and your feet due south. Sleep soundly in a horizontal position and you will live long."

The doctor explained further that after patient and careful study he had discovered that a body placed in such a position was in direct line with the various magnetic currents coming from the North, which in passing through the body insured regular circulation of the blood and helped to maintain the tissues.

RUSS ENVOYS ASK MOSCOW ABOUT AGREEMENT FORM

Proposals For Trade Pacts Under Committee Consideration

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept 18.—A telegram dated Changchun the 18th instant says:

The Changchun Conference met at 11 a.m., today. As to the form of the agreement, the Russian delegates are asking for instructions from the Moscow Government, but as no reply has been received as yet, the question has been left in abeyance. The text of the agreement has been discussed, and the articles about the trade and the freedom of trading have been sent to committees, after which the meeting was adjourned at 1 p.m.

(China Press Service)

Tokio, Sept. 16.—A Changchun telegram of today's date says that for the reason of the adjournment of the meeting for today, the Russian delegates explain that they are very much tired after sitting in conference with the Japanese delegates day after day.

It is learned on good authority, however, the telegram adds, that there were some obscure points in the important telegram that reached the Russian delegates from the Moscow Government on the midnight of the 15th and the Russian delegates are now communicating with the Soviet Government. This has caused them to postpone the meeting.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 17.—Interviewed yesterday by press representatives, Count Uchida, Minister of Foreign Affairs, referring to the Changchun conference, made a statement in the main as follows:

If the Dairen conference draft agreement, which is now under discussion, be carried out prior to the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Vladivostok at the end of October, the arms seized by the Japanese troops will be handed over to the Chita Government, but should the said draft agreement not be concluded, there is no alternative for the Japanese Government but to act according to circumstances. If at this juncture a compromise should be effected between the Vladivostok Government and the Chita Government, it would be most convenient to dispose of the seized arms to the satisfaction of all concerned.

LEPER ASYLUMS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Sept. 13.—At the estimated cost of Y.80,000 additional leper asylums will be constructed in Tokio next year. According to the authorities the lepers in Japan number 16,000, of whom 10,000 are without means of self-support. Only 1,000 are now properly cared for in Government asylums in different parts of the country.

ONE MAIL COAT ONLY

Berlin, Aug. 12.—Coats of mail have been adopted for German detectives engaged in dangerous pursuits of criminals, but because of a shortage of funds the Berlin department can own but one of the useful vests of armor.

As a result this will be passed around in turn to men engaged in following desperate criminals.

3,000 AMERICAN SAILORS WILL BE HERE NEXT MONTH

Three Divisions Of Destroyers Of Asiatic Fleet To Be In Port Three Weeks

Three divisions of destroyers, the United States Asiatic Flagship Huron, with the U. S. S. Black Hawk, Finch and General Alava, now at Chefoo for Summer target practice, are expected to leave there a week from next Saturday and are expected in Shanghai on Monday, October 2.

The twenty-one ships of the American Navy, under command of Admiral Edwin Alexander Anderson, Commander in Chief, will be in Shanghai about three weeks, according to present plans. It will be Admiral Anderson's first visit to Shanghai since taking command of the fleet.

Another American warship will be here, the U. S. S. Elcano, which arrives from Ichang and Hankow on Friday. It is expected that nearly 3,500 officers and men will be in Shanghai.

The destroyer divisions are the 38th, 43rd and 45th. The last two named divisions relieved the 37th and 12th Divisions, which left here about the middle of July and were sent home from Chefoo. The ships in these two divisions are to be dismantled under the terms of the Washington Conference.

Admiral Anderson To Visit Schurman

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 18.—Admiral Anderson, of the United States Navy, and Mrs. Anderson are due to arrive here on Friday on a few days visit to Dr. Schurman, the American Minister, and Mrs. Schurman.

Chief Kenlon Admires London Fire Fighters

London, June 29.—Fire Chief John Kenton of New York sent today to A. R. Dyer, chief officer of the London Fire Brigade, his congratulations on the efficiency of London's fire fighters.

Kenlon was present yesterday at the regular weekly practice display of the Brigade and witnessed exhibition of methods of fire fighting and life saving. At its close he wrote the following letter:

"To the Chief Officer and Men of the London Fire Brigade.

"Gentlemen:

"The exhibition and drill at Brigade headquarters this afternoon was in all respects equal to anything I have ever seen in Europe or America. I have been pleased and benefited by the demonstration. My sincere congratulations."

This letter was published in Brigade orders today.

Legislators Would Legalise Opium

(China Press Service)

Manila, Sept. 17.—Legalising the importation of opium under exceptionally heavy duties as a means of replenishing the depleted finances of the Philippine Government is proposed in a bill filed in the Philippine legislature today.

The bill's sponsors declare that doctors and scientists have failed to prove the ill effects they charge would arise from an influx of opium, and assert that all restrictive measures against opium for centuries back have been failures.

The introduction of the bill is expected to arouse a storm of protest from all over the islands as well as from the United States.

September 18, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each up ¼d in London on Saturday. The New York price advanced to 69¾ cents and the London-New York cross rate declined to 443.

The only changes of importance here today in our official rates were a drop in the Yen rate to 63 and a rise in the Rupee rate to 266½. Our market in the early part of the morning was steady.

Speculators bought a fair amount of Sterling at 3-5⅝ September, 3-5 11-16 October-November and 3-5¾ for December.

Gold Dollars were done at 77 September, 77⅛ October and 77¼ for forward delivery.

Banks were good sellers at these rates and later on in the day the market firmed up and at the Tiffin interval there were probably sellers at a fraction over the above rates.

There were again good sellers of Yen today, some business in which was done against Sterling at 2-2. Banks today were quoting 3-6½ for Sterling bills, 78¾ for Gold Dollar bills and 1050 for Franc Bills.

India bought silver in London again Saturday and the market closed steady. The New York market is also steady with China banks buyers.

Weihaiwei Envoys On Way To Posts

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Sept. 15.—The journey of the Commission for the Recession of Weihaiwei has been held up because of repairs being made to the steamer Hsinming at Chefoo. Instead of coming to Tientsin three days ago this vessel did not arrive until yesterday.

Mr. Lian Ju-ho, Chief of the Commission made his farewell calls on the President. Premier and other officials today and expects to leave for Tientsin tomorrow morning, when his Commission will sail for Weihaiwei. Besides Mr. Liang, there are some twenty councillors, secretaries and clerks.

Wanted Car So Much She Ran Away

Miss Helen Riglin.

MISS Helen Riglin, a New York girl, thought her family was fooling her when they said they would get her an automobile for her twenty-first birthday. So, rather than be jeered, she disappeared and wasn't found for a week, at a beach hotel formerly owned by her uncle. In spite of the little jaunt she will get the car, for the family intended all the time she should have one.

Chinese Bandits Led By Russians

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Sept. 15.—It has been necessary for the Minister of Communications to send a telegram to the Military Governors of Kirin and Heilunkiang requesting them to send military forces to maintain peace along the Chinese Eastern Railway.

It is reported that a group of Russians have connived with the bandits to capture the Suifengho Railway Station, which is soon to be evacuated by the Japanese troops. Their object seems to be to create trouble for the railway.

Reports have been received from the two military Governors in question that since this affected area along the Railway is within their jurisdiction, it is their duty to guarantee peace and to prevent attacks by foreign forces.

Severe Typhoon Visits Philippines

(China Press Service)

Manila, Sept. 18.—A typhoon swept over the Philippine Islands during the last 36 hours. It is feared that serious damage has been done in Northern Luzon, where the typhoon was very severe.

The telegraph has been interrupted to the north and it will probably be several days before details are received. Two small coasting vessels were sunk in Manila Bay. There has been no loss of life.

The typhoon has now subsided here. It is travelling to the west.

Manila Center Of Educational Storm

(China Press Service)

Manila, Sept. 17.—Four hundred alumni of the University of the Philippines, infuriated because of the dismissal of Professor Austin Craig, passed resolutions at a meeting here today demanding the resignation of President Benton and every appointive regent on the grounds of abuse of authority.

Dean Maximo M. Kalaw, leader of the insurgent faction, issued a statement in which he declared he knew nothing about the rumor that the faculty of the university would walk out and organise a new university, but severely scored the regents for their action and asserted that it was imperative that there be more faculty representation in the control of the university.

Four legislators, all allied with the insurgent wing at the university declared they would shortly introduce bills in the Philippine legislature abolishing the board of regents and vesting control of the university in a board of deans.

Prof. Craig, head of the department of history in the university, was dismissed by the regents for "activities contrary to the policies of the university." No specific charges were made public as the hearing of the charges, at which Prof. Craig defended himself, was held behind closed doors. It is stated unofficially, however, that the charges grew out of certain articles written by Prof. Craig and appearing in the Philippines Herald, the organ of the ultra-independence wing in Filipino politics.

The articles were in answer to statements made by Rev. Leland H. Tracey, professorial lecturer on sociology in the University in an address before the Sociology Club of the University which was given extensive publicity in all Manila papers. In it, he commented at length on the low mentality of the Filipinos as a race and the preponderance of types closely approaching morons.

Rev. Tracey's address caused a sensation here and was followed shortly afterwards by a series of articles by Prof. Craig in the Philippines Herald in which he bitterly attacked Rev. Tracey for his statements. It is said that in these articles he overstepped the bounds of controversy both in his statements and manner of presentation as well as in making personal attacks.

Prof. Craig was given five hours in which to defend himself in a trial before the Board of Regents which ended with his dismissal from the university.

New Uprising In Canton, Is Report

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Sept. 11.—The Canton military authorities are again commandeering private steam launches for military transportation. More than twenty launches have been taken during the last two days. The explanation offered is that the policy of the present Military Administration is to station the Cantonese troops in several districts instead of centralising them in Canton.

There is, however, a report, which lacks Government confirmation that former Constitutionalists are rising in Meihsien, Waichow, against General Chen Chiung-ming. General Yeh Chu, the commander who led the forces against Dr. Sun Yat-sen on June 16, is returning to Waichow, according to local press reports, to visit his sick mother.

Canton paper money has dropped back to less than 70 percent during the last two days, before which date it had risen to 80 percent, in anticipation of the Provisional Civil Government effecting some reform in finance.

Publication of the negotiations between Admiral Sah Chen-ping, for the Peking Government, and the Chinese Navy now in Canton waters will not be made until the Fleet is actually able to return to the north.

Unless the Peking Government is able to finance the trip back and fulfil the demands of the officers, now commanding the vessels, who include men whose present rank and grade has been given by the Constitutional Government, the vessels may have to remain in Canton waters for some months longer.

Admiral Sah is not ready to admit that any formal agreement for the Fleet to return to the north has been concluded.

Chihli Tuchun Helps Education

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Sept. 15.—Because a certain Government official called Marshall Tsao Kun's attention to the fact that it would be bad for the administration if the schools were allowed to go unopened this term, Marshall Tsao is said to have felt that he should fulfill the promise he made in a circular telegram some time ago to the effect that he would support the educational movement.

Consequently he has written the following letter to Mr. Wang Keming, Governor of the Bank of China:

"I have heard that the teaching and administrative staffs of the Government Schools, because of lack of pay, have been greatly embarrassed and have decided not to open the schools, unless three months' arrears were made up to them.

"This matter requires immediate attention and we should help as much as possible so that our youths can continue their training. It is reported that the Ministry of Communications has already raised $100,000, and that is not enough for one month's salary.

"I have, therefore, raised from my own resources, both at Paoting and Peking, a sum of $120,000 and have asked Mr. Chang Lang-chai to bring it to Peking with the instructions to consult with you. The other two months should be raised within the next ten days.

"Besides wiring Prefier Wang, Minister Kao and Chief of the Salt Administration Chang, you are requested to co-operate with them in order to raise the full amount required so that the schools can be maintained.

"Signed Tsao Kun."

Babies do not Cry for Fun.

The healthy child is a happy child. You may be sure that if your baby is cross and cries a great deal, refuses its food at the proper times, sleeps badly, frequently vomits, has pain and trouble with its teething and continues thin and weak, there is something wrong, which is retarding its progress.

Almost all infantile troubles arise in the first place from stomach and bowel troubles. To remedy these conditions use Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets stand in a class by themselves, being especially made for children's use, pleasant in taste and guaranteed absolutely harmless. They quickly reduce simple fever, cure indigestion, check diarrhoea, allay teething pains, expel worms, relieve croup and colds, quiet the nerves and promote health-giving, restful sleep in a natural way.

An International Trouble Maker

THE editor of the Peking and Tientsin Times has again been indulging in his favorite pastime of misrepresenting the American judiciary in China. In the last year or so he has devoted much of his attention to the United States Court for China and in the recent attack upon it he was one of chief purveyors of partisan misinformation. The fact that this attack was found to be baseless by the President of the United States, the Federal Department of Justice and the Appellate Court, and has now been repudiated by the chief attacker himself, has apparently had no effect upon the Tientsin editor.

He has actually renewed the attack by launching an absurd criticism of the United States Court for granting a writ of habeas corpus (that time honored safeguard of British and American liberties) to an American citizen whom the Tientsin Consular Court, acting without jurisdiction, had condemned to imprisonment or banishment. In any case this would seem to be primarily a matter for Americans and their authorities. But this Tientsin censor of things American devotes nearly two columns of his paper to criticising the decision which at the close of the article he admits "may be quite sound in law." Well if a decision is "quite sound in law" what occasion is there for criticising it? Surely the Tientsin editor is not so ignorant as not to know that courts cannot change the law and that their duty is to apply the law as it is.

In this instance the American law expressly declares that a consul has no criminal jurisdiction except "where the punisument for the offense charged cannot exceed by law $100. one or sixty days imprisonment or both." Notwithstanding this the consul at Tientsin assumed to try and sentence an American citizen for assault, the penalty for the lowest grade of which is a fine of $300 or imprisonment for three months or both. In addition the consul imposed the alternative penalty of banishment which is not found in any American law. Clearly the whole sentence was rendered without jurisdiction and when the prisoner applied to the United States Court it could do nothing else but release him. Whether the applicant was a good man or a bad man did not enter into the case nor is there anything to prevent his lawful punishment now in a lawful way for any wrong he may have done. If the Tientsin editor were what he professes to be he would uphold the court in refusing to sanction the imprisonment or banishment of a citizen by an official who had no jurisdiction to act.

Most of the criticisms in the article are trivial—e. g. the suggestion that such excesses of jurisdiction have been committed by other consuls. Is the United States Court, which was established here to supervise the judicial work of the consuls, to condone an illegal sentence in this case because of other illegal acts not brought to its attention? The whole drift of the article is so ridiculous that it would be difficult to account for but for its closing wail which lets the cat out of the bag. The editor is distressed for fear the decision may "undermine the prestige and authority of the American Consular authorities in this district." Does the editor mean to imply by this that the American Consular authorities in Tientsin are in the habit of exercising authority which they do not possess? We do not see how, otherwise, merely requiring them not to exercise such authority will undermine their prestige.

In view of the editor's previous attacks upon American Consular authorities in other districts we are constrained to join in the inquiry of our Italian contemporary, the China Observer, which asks "why this British editor is so solicitous for the authority of the American Consul at Tientsin?" And this inquiry is the more pertinent since a perusal of the article would indicate that the editor possesses information which could only have come from the consul himself.

But the most serious feature of these perennial attacks is the international aspect. This constant meddling in the affairs of a friendly nation—this continuous misrepresentations of its institutions—can only cause bitterness and resentment. The editor diplomatically starts his tirade by declaring that "the law is an ass." But it is not more so than the man who continually interferes in the concerns of others or who seeks to stir up trouble between different nationalities. The law may need reforming but where it is unsatisfactory the remedy must be sought in the legislative branch and not by denouncing the courts for performing their duty.

The Power Of Laughter

(Satan in Mark Twain's "The Mysterious Stranger")

Will a day come when the race will detect the funniness of these juvenilities and laugh at them—and by laughing at them destroy them? For your race, in its poverty has unquestionably one really effective weapon—laughter. Power, money, persuasion, supplication, persecution—these can lift at a colossal humbug—push it a little—weaken it a little, century by century; but only laughter can blow it to rags and atmosphere at a blast.

Present Styles Not So Bad

At Any Rate We Are More Modest Than In Napoleon III's Day

It appears, after all, that long since the revels of Flora in ancient Rome, there has been worse garb for women than one sees on Fifth avenue today. Lady Norah Bentinck, who wrote a book about the former kaiser in exile, calls attention to some of the individual vagaries of the recent past, as an indication that conformity to fashion may really have a restraining effect instead of the reverse. She says:

"Princess Pauline Metternich, at a state ball at the Tuileries, appeared before Napoleon III and the Empress Eugenie with her hair hanging down her back and nude to the waist. The Princess Castiglione was notorious for the beauty of her figure, and her sculptured leg is in one of the chief museums of Italy today. At a ball she was so little clothed that the Empress Eugenie ordered her chamberlain to take to the princess a shawl.

"One of Napoleon's women was so proud of her legs and feet that she drove about Rome with her bare legs hanging out of the carriage window."

An Outline Of Horse Racing

For over two hundred and fifty years horse racing, the king of sports, has prevailed in Long Island.

When the English obtained control of New York and Long Island in 1664, Governor Nicholls, an ardent sportsman, announced the first horse race, which took place at Hempstead, in the autumn of 1665.

The racing proclamation, a copy of which is in the archives of the Pennsylvania Railroad, reads: "Not so much for the divertissement of youth as for encouraging the bettering of the breed of horses, which through great neglect has been impaired."

Governor Nicholls caused a track to be laid out and rolled on what was then called Salisbury's Plain, a part of the Great Hempstead Plain, and was situated near the present Hyde Park station of the Long Island Railroad. The track was called Newmarket, after the famous English race course, and was the first regular race track of which there is an authentic account in the United States or Canada.

Governor Nicholls was succeeded by Governor Lovelace, and in 1689 the latter announced that races would be run over the Newmarket course in the spring and fall of each year. The announcement stated "Subscriptions may be sent to Captain Salisbury of all such as are disposed to run for a crown of silver or the value thereof in wheat."

Racing on the Newmarket course was continued for more than eighty years. The track was situated at what would be considered in those days quite a distance from New York, considering the facilities for reaching it which then existed. But distance did not deter either the New Yorkers of that day or the farmers or fishermen of Long Island from seeing and wagering on a good race, and it is reported that people turned out in such large numbers as to make the sport both enjoyable and profitable.

In 1764, a new track was constructed at Centreville, near the Newmarket course, and as racing had become the popular pastime of the colony both tracks were liberally patronised.

In 1804 the racing moved to a field east of the old Court House, and in 1821 the famous Union Course on the western border of Jamaica was constructed, and in 1823 the Fashion track nearby was built.

The New York Postboy of June 4, 1750 wrote: "On Friday last there was a great horse race on Hempstead Plains, which engaged the attention of so many of the City of New York that upward of seventy chairs and chaises were carried over Brooklyn ferry the day before, besides a far greater number of horses. The number of horses on the Plains exceeded one thousand." In 1764 the Macaroni Club offered prizes of £100 and £50, respectively, for a race on this track, the money being won by Lath, owned by James De Lancel, and Lijah, owned by William Willet.

On March 14, 1781, a race was run between Eclipse and Sturdy Beggar for "50 Joes" and there was a three hundred guinea sweepstake race held on Hempstead Plains April 27, 1782, which attracted so many New Yorkers away from the city that the drapers and other merchants closed their shops.

One of the printed announcements reads: "By permission of his Excellency a three days' sport on Ascot Heath, formerly Flat Lands Plains. Monday: First, the Noblemen's and Gentleman's Purse of Sixty Pounds, free for any horse except Mr. Wartmore's and Mr. Allen's Dulciman, who won the plate at Beaver's Pond last season. Second: A saddle, bridle and whip worth fifteen pounds for ponies not exceeding 13½ hands. Tuesday: First, Ladies' subscription purse, fifty pounds. Second, to be run for by women, A Holland Smock and Chintz Gown fully trimmed. Wednesday: Country Subscription Purse, value fifty pounds. No person will erect a booth or sell liquor without subscribing two guineas to expenses of races. Gentlemen fond of fox hunting can meet at Loosely's Kings Head Tavern at daybreak during the races. God Save the King played every hour."

Prior to the construction of Union Course all races held on Long Island were running races.

The Individual And His Chance

A man of middle years who had made several ineffectual attempts to secure employment wrote of his troubles to a newspaper and asked: "What chance has a man these days, anyway? The world, I have become more convinced as I grow older, cares nothing for the individual. I have a good education; I have filled responsible positions, but the business depression of the last year crowded me out. Now I can't get back; and I find nobody is willing to listen to my case or to give me even half a chance to show my ability. Talk of human brotherhood, the increasing goodness in the world! It is all froth; it doesn't exist, as any one can find when he must make a real test of the case. The individual's chance is mighty slim when everything becomes a system."

The feelings of this man have been shared by thousands of others. Usually they come with fullest force when there has been misfortune. Perhaps it is the misfortune of another; death has taken away a friend or loved one, maybe one of youthful years and promise. The life savings of an honest and industrious individual have gone in a day and through no fault of the man. Or there is sickness, long weeks or months of pain and suffering. What does the world care? What does the world do about it? Does justice, right, prevail? Has the individual really a chance, or is there simply a sweeping forward of forces that, like the tempest in its fury, strike here and there and pass harmlessly elsewhere?

Every one is likely to answer according to his own experience and the things he has been taught to believe. Broadly, it must be recognised that, as Stevenson declares, "the services of no single individual are indispensable." Very likely, Nature recognises the fact and the world of men, consciously or unconsciously, acts upon the precept. Nature is seen to be so "careful of the type," and "so careless of the single life;" while "the individual withers and the world is more and more."

In the apparent disregard for the individual, however, there is no cause for depression, but rather a call to unusual action. Men whose examples others admire and would like to follow have not despaired at their chance, no matter how slim it appeared to be at any time. Despair was not the note of Stevenson while he for twenty-five years suffered illness and almost daily faced death; his time was not spent in complaining that he individually was not responsible for his condition; that it would have been only the simplest justice could he have possessed the physical vigor of a mere ditch digger.

The individual with the right stuff in him accepts the dare of Nature, and the world with its systems, industrial and otherwise and plays the game to the limit. If he loses he will be content, but he will not be content to lose without an effort. His chance, he believes, is even, fair. He will prove by the individual action that the task demands; and as he profits he will aid the world forward.

So the individual need not wither as the world advances. The individual who contributes anything to the world's progress has a chance for life and usefulness as time itself endures. The misfortune that leads to the philosophy of "no chance" is simply a test.

Margaret Deland On The Immoral Book

"Psychologically, I am very much interested in trying to discover and understand the mental processes which could lead a reader to think that 'The Vehement Flame' is an immoral book," said Mrs. Deland. "A friend remarked to me the other day that the reason people are finding 'The Vehement Flame' wicked is because they stop with the statement of the fact—that is, Maurice's infidelity—and do not go on to see the moral results of the fact, which are terrible and saving. This seemed to me a very enlightening thing to say if one applies it to books and plays. Otherwise, I think, the Ten Commandments would come under the head of immoral; certainly the seventh would!

"To my way of thinking, an immoral book is one which makes immorality attractive, just as an immoral play is a play which makes wickedness seem a matter of course. 'The Gay Lord Quex,' if you remember, does make wrongdoing most casual, and even charming, whereas 'The Second Mrs. Tanqueray' is a play of profound and solemn morality; yet there is a type of mind that would find it perfectly possible to approve of 'The Gay Lord Quex' and disapprove of 'The Second Mrs. Tanqueray.'"

She passed to open another letter written by a very, very old lady who knew Mrs. Deland's family years ago. "What made you write 'The Vehement Flame?'" this correspondent asked. "Your mission is to make people better; they love Dr. Lavendar and dear Dr. King, but poor Maurice can do nobody any good. What would Aunt Lois (an aunt of Mrs. Deland's who died nearly thirty years ago) say? She would be as much distressed as this other old friend. And I am not the only person who feels sorry that you have followed the multitude to do evil, not good, with your pen."

There was another letter of a similar nature in the same mail, which was signed "Yours for Purity." It reminded Mrs. Deland of a letter she had received some time ago from a lady who signed herself "Your Sister in Incorruptibility." "In this letter," Mrs. Deland said, "she wrote that she had liked me until now, but now she could not like me any longer because I had made Dr. Lavendar do two things that he would never do—smoke a cigarette and take a drink of whisky." (She was wrong about the cigarette, I made him smoke a cigar. There were no cigarettes in Dr. Lavendar's day.)

"But having made this terrible accusation there followed the blasting deduction from it, which ran, as nearly as I can remember: 'You may say that gentleman do such things. But I ask you, can a man remain a gentleman and smoke?' This letter," said Mrs. Deland, "gives an idea of the moral standards of people and would be very amusing if it were not so pathetic."

Then there is the sort of critic who cavils at Mrs. Deland's sentence on the last page of her novel: "The children must do what they think is right, even if it is wrong."

According to Mrs. Deland, the type of mind which finds alarm in the above sentiment is liable to do infinite harm when it comes in contact with the youth of today. On the other hand, many have been praising "The Vehement Flame" for its spiritual significance! Mrs. Deland has received scores of letters on the order of the following:

"... Your marvelous delineation of the tenderness of the human heart and its aching desire to be right even in its most 'wicked' experiences creates in your readers a passionate resolve to be and do one's very best."

And another letter:

"I claim you wrote this last book to show how frail man can through stress, find his soul; and, finding it, fall on his face in contrition for the wrongdoing."

Useful Bits Of Potential Knowledge

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

What an interesting thing it is to measure the height of a distant mountain while sitting quickly on a porch, provided only with a lead pencil and a footrule for instruments and a trifling knowledge of trigonometry for calculating purposes. How simple a thing may seem magical to those who don't know the trick! This morning I sat thus on a hotel porch and admired a distant, blue, magnificently shaped mountain. I asked a native of the region how high that mountain was; he didn't know, never had heard tell how high it was. How far away was it. He reckoned it might be between twenty and thirty miles. A railroad chart showed that the distance was about twenty miles in an air line.

"Now," said I to an interested companion, "we'll find out for ourselves how high that mountain is. It is certainly a bit of information worth the trouble of making a few figures."

"How are you going to do it when you've got no surveying instrument?"

"This pencil and foot rule will do the work well enough for our purpose. Observe that the pencil is one-quarter of an inch thick. Now I hold it horizontally and move it away from my eye until it just hides the mountain from the horizon line to the summit. The intervening country being practically level helps us. When the pencil covers the mountain I find that it is fifteen inches from my eye. The distance of the mountain, as the chart shows, is twenty miles.

"Very well, then, we have this proportion: As 15 inches is to ¼ inch, so is 20 miles to the height of the mountain, which we will call X. Solving the proportion we find that 60 X equals 20 miles, so that X must equal 20-60, or one third of a mile—i.e. 1,760 feet, which is therefore the height of the mountain.

"We did not have formally to employ trigonometry at all. Simple arithmetic sufficed. We only had to know that the apparent height of an object varies inversely with the distance. A quarter of an inch at a distance of 15 inches has an angular altitude the same as that of a mountain 1,760 feet high but 84,480 times 15 inches distant. In each case the distance is 60 times the height, 60x¼ inch being 15 inches, and 60x1,760 feet being 20 miles."

So many people never remember, or never apply, any of the elementary mathematics that they learned in school to anything in practical life except figuring grocers' and dressmakers' bills, the price of stocks and the cost of keeping up appearances. Without knowing it, they have in their possession, only waiting to be used, a key of power to open the gate of a world of intellectual pleasures.

The simple method above described may often be of the greatest value in furnishing information imperatively needed and not otherwise in the existing circumstances to be had. It furnishes much entertainment, too. It is as easy to calculate the distance as the magnitude of an object. The two are interconvertible. Knowing one you can ascertain the other. Often it is convenient to proceed by a trigonometrical method. Here the tangent of the angle subtended by the distant object is the key. It is a valuable little accomplishment to learn how to estimate angles.

A small protractor makes an excellent pocket-piece, and ought to be almost as common as a jack knife and a pocket compass for those who go travelling through nature's expanses. Another invaluable companion is a small handbook for engineers, containing tables of logarithms and trigonometric functions. There is nothing formidable about these things except their names. They are as easy to learn as A. B. C., and are useful to every intelligent person. Every normal boy is a natural engineer. He is spoiled at school unless luck favors him.

Let us see what the tangent method would have done in our mountain case. First, the angular height of the mountain as seen from the porch should have been carefully estimated, or better, measured. In the case as given this would have been about one degree. The distance would represent the radius of the trigonometric circle, which is always reckoned as unity, or one, and the height of the mountain would be the tangent of the angle. Glancing at our pocket-book table of tangents we should find the decimal 0.01746 standing for the tangent of one degree. This means that the height bears to the distance (represented by the radius) the ratio of 0.01746 to 1.0. So, the distance being 20 miles, the height would be about 1843 feet. This is 83 feet more than we got by the other method, but the difference arises from our having slightly overestimated the angle.

Seven Salads—Try A New One Each Day In The Week

BY MARY LOUISE

When you sit down to dine, the soup, delivious as it may be, does not always excite you because of its novelty. You accept it and enjoy it, as you do the piece de resistance and its accompaniments, but when the salad is served, are you not always interested to see if it is something new?

CHESTNUT SALAD

One pound of Italian chestnuts; two cupfuls of diced apples; one tablespoonful of candied ginger, cut into bits; one tablespoonful of candied cherries, sliced into rounds.

Peel the chestnuts, blanch and remove the brown skins. Boil in slightly salted water until tender. Break into pieces. Mix lightly with the apple, ginger and cherries, and a liberal quantity of mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce.

MOCK LOBSTER SALAD

One quart (or 2 lbs.) of cold boiled halibut; half a cupful of chopped sweet red pepper; mayonnaise.

Boil two pounds of halibut in salted water—in which a tablespoonful of vinegar is added—until firm. When very cold, flake into pieces, mix lightly with the chopped peppers and mayonnaise or Russian dressing. Serve on lettuce.

SALAD SURPRISE

One can California Bartlett pears, two cream cheeses, mayonnaise and lettuce.

Dry the pears and cut into halves with a sharp knife. Place rounded side up and spread smoothly with the cream cheese, moistened with a little cream. Serve individually on lettuce leaves surrounded by mayonnaise.

ALMOND CHEESE SALAD

Moisten two cream cheese with a little cream and beat with a fork until smooth. Mix with it one-half cupful of chopped blanched almonds and one cupful of whipped cream. Pile lightly on lettuce leaves with small balls of currant jelly placed on top. Surround with mayonnaise.

PATE DE FOIE GRAS SALAD

One can pate de foie gras and smallest white leaves of a head of lettuce.

Arrange the pate de foie gras in balls on the lettuce leaves, with a teaspoonful of mayonnaise over each. Serve with hot toasted and buttered crackers.

AUSTRIAN SALAD

One pair sweetbreads, half an onion, half a carrot, one blade celery, two coupfuls canned peas, salt and pepper.

Boil sweetbreads twenty minutes in boiling salted water (after thoroughly washing and soaking in salt water for half an hour) with the onion, celery and carrot. When cold remove the skin from the sweetbreads and break into pieces. Mix with the peas and a generous amount of mayonnaise or Russian dressing. Serve on lettuce.

SALAD MOUSSE

One cupful stiff mayonnaise, three cupfuls whipped cream, 1½ cupfuls fruit (pineapple, orange and canned cherries in equal parts) and one teaspoonful gelatine.

Soak gelatine in a little cold water fifteen minutes. Dissolve with a bit of boiling water. Add this to mayonnaise. Fold in the whipped cream lightly. Add the fruit drained from the juice. Pack in a mold in cracked ice four hours. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise over the top.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
J. A. BOARMAN, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

Weather Report

Sept. 17.—The advance of the typhoon is slackened and it seems deviated, between Luzon and Formosa, probably under the influence of the big cyclone that follows towards NW, about midway between the Marianas and the Loochoos.

Two days of NNE gales with no great change of pressure at the Pescadores and in S Formosa.

Sharp depression in Manchuria.

Weather damp and hot but rather fine at Shanghai; showers all day long at the Philippines.

Sept. 18.—The pressure is still rising. The breeze, still light, has been backing to NNE. Fine weather but heavy humidity; mist and low fog over the fields.

Thousands Seek Commercial Posts

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 16.—Mr. Leslie Urquhart says that thousands of applications for commercial posts in Russia have been received since the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated Company's agreement with the Soviet was signed.

That merchants, clerks and engineers, formerly employed in Russia, were scrambling to get back, he added was significant of Russia's commercial reawakening.

Rail Committee To Consider Strike

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 17.—The Chiaotungpu has appointed a committee consisting of Mr. Hsu Tsao-shih and 50 other members of the staff of the Ministry of Communications to discuss the protection of the rights of railway employees.

Morgan's Partner Routs Big Bear

Thomas W. Lamont and Corliss Lamont, jr.

THOMAS W. Lamont, partner of J. P. Morgan and Co., international bankers, photographed with his son, Caroliss, at Artists' Point, on the rim of the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone, 1,200 feet above the river. Mr. Lamont has routed the "bears" in Wall Street many a time and oft, and he has shown he can handle the four-footed variety. He encountered a big brown bear and her two cubs ransacking a camper's automobile in Yellowstone National Park and put them to rout with a handful of stones.

Opium Question Still Before League

(Reuter's Special Service)

Geneva, Sept. 16.—The motion of the Chinese delegation at the Assembly of the League of Nations regarding renewal of non-permanent members of the Council has been referred to the First Commission.

The debate of the Fifth Commission on Sept. 12 was originated by Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland (New Zealand), who placed a motion inviting the Governments of countries, whose imports of opium were limited, not to increase these imports until it had been ascertained or reported that the League had estimated the amounts for their legitimate consumption.

Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland explained that the motion was especially aimed at the request of the Hongkong Government to increase importation.

Mrs. Coombe-Tennant said that Great Britain was prepared to undertake that the average consumption of Hongkong would not exceed the average of the past few years.

Mr. Chu Chao-hsin protested against increase on the ground that the present quantity was sufficient for Hongkong and that any excess was likely to be exported to Canton.

Lord Chelmsford said that China produced 754 times more than Hongkong was now asking.

Mrs. Coombe-Tennant said that opium was smuggled to Hongkong from China.

Mr. Chu Chao-hsin said that the Hongkong Government should stop the smuggling.

Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland rejoiced that the discussion had removed misunderstandings and withdrew the motion.

The motion restricting manufacture of morphia to medical and legitimate requirements was then moved by Mr. Chu Chao-hsin, who amended it merely emphasising the view of the Assembly that the limitation of production to medical requirements was the most effective method of stopping illicit traffic and recommending the acceleration of an enquiry into the world's legitimate requirements with a view to submission of a provisional estimate and scheme to the Assembly in 1923.

The amended motion was supported by Lord Chelmsford and adopted, after which M. Ador (Switzerland) made the declaration that the Federal Council would introduce the system of import certificates proposed by the League as soon as the Opium Convention of 1912 was adopted by the Federal Assembly.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 16.—M. Dagama, President of the Council of the League of Nations, denies the reports of differences between the Brazilian and other delegations at Geneva and the possible withdrawal of Brazil from the League.

All Russian Ballet To Be New Offering At Del Monte Cafe

As an entirely new feature of entertainment a Russian Ballet, direct from Russia, is to be staged at the Del Monte Cafe opening on September 30, according to announcement made by Manager Al Israel of the cafe.

The Ballet will be produced by Mr. Dickie Hamilton, the well known producer, and will star Damartzky, the famous ballet master, who before the Russian Revolution was chief ballet master at the Imperial Theater at Moscow.

Damartzky has been in Russia for the past two months, putting the finishing touches on the ballet to be produced here, and has just wired Mr. Israel that everything is in readiness. Features of the ballet will be a young Russian boy and his sister touted as being the coming dancers of Russia, and Damartzky himself. Eight girls, the pick of ballets in Russia both in beauty and ability, have been engaged for the ballet, according to Mr. Israel.

Peking Teachers Still Await Pay

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, Sept. 15.—The Peking Government teachers held another meeting yesterday to talk over their misfortune. They had not yet received the $120,000 which Dr Wang as Minister of Education had promised for Thursday, nor had they seen any visible evidence of the money that Tsao Kung wired he had raised for them.

They were told by the committee that the petition for the impeachment of Kao En-hung would soon be ready for sending to the Parliament. However, since that body breaks up its session in three days and will probably not reconvene for another month, this doubtless will die a natural death.

The meeting broke up with the usual suggestion that they await further developments, which in this case, is for the plan which Premier Wang has promised to have ready tomorrow and which is expected to solve the immediate problem.

However, eight representatives were selected to parley with the Vice Minister of Education about their back pay and the question of having it provided from the customs revenues.

NANTAO TRAMWAY MEN WIN DEMANDS, RETURN TO WORK

Strikers Gets Increase Of 20 Percent In Wages And Other Concessions

Employes of the Chinese Tramways Company in Nantao, who struck on Saturday, have returned to their posts after being granted an increase of 20 percent in their wages and certain concessions in working conditions.

The motormen and conductors were the first to go on strike, demanding an increase of 30 percent in wages, death gratuities for six months, an eight-hour day, the limitation of new employes becoming regulators and conductors and other concessions.

Inspectors ran a few cars Saturday but on Sunday also went on strike, making demands somewhat similar to the conductors and motormen. Under the new increases employes will be paid a minimum of $14 a month and a mixmum of $26 according to length of service.

Chinese Accountant In French School Given Two Years

A Chinese accountant at the Institut Franco-Chinois d'Industrie et de Commerce, formerly the German Engineering College, on Rue Lafayette, was sentenced to two years in jail by Assessor Crepin in the French Mixed Court yesterday for the theft of $2,300.

The accountant, according to the French police, entered the safe of the Institute on Thursday night using the safe key after substituting a duplicate key so that no one would discover the key was missing. He took the money to the Pootung side, hiding it in a waterspout, where most of it was recovered.

He returned to work on Friday as usual and was present when French police arrived to make investigation. Because he had taken $20 of the money and was afraid they would find it on his person if they searched the Institute's employees he hid the $20 in a lavatory, which resulted in his arrest when it was found.

WINS PROMOTION

"We are glad to learn" says the Central China Post, Hankow, "that Mr. L. Boyack, who has been in the service of the British Consulate-General here for the last fifteen years, and who has always placed his services cheerfully at the disposal of the community during that period, has received promotion."

"For some seven years Mr. Boyack was Sergeant Major of the British Volunteers and instructor in machine-guns at a very critical period of the Great War. Mr. Boyack has now been promoted to the post of Head Shipping Clerk at H. B. M. Consulate-General at Shanghai, and will leave in a few weeks time to take up his new post. This post we understand carries greatly enhanced pay and pension. We wish Mr. Boyack every success in his new duties."
